This detainee is an adult male originally arrested on suspicion of home invasion. He has been noted by his guards to have been exhibiting unusual behavior since his incarceration. This behavior consists of the detainee collecting his own feces and using this material to decorate his cell by smearing it on the walls and by making sculptures of animals. He has been noted to also smear fecal material on himself, to consume this material, and to drink his own urine. He has been noted to attempt to eat paint chips and fragments of concrete he chips from his cell. He has been seen to insert a cucumber and a tomato into his rectum.

At present the detainee is limited in his aberrant behavior with restraints. He shows no evidence of gastrointestinal disturbances or of dehydration, and rests quietly when restrained and answers questions co-operatively. Psychiatric evaluation is requested above.

This is a middle-aged male originally arrested on suspicion of murder. He has been noted since his incarceration to exhibit disruptive and peculiar behavior during most of his waking hours. This behavior is characterized by wailing, gasping loudly, beating his chest or making motions as if to bring more air onto his face with his hands, and rocking back and forth. He is noted to talk constantly without seeming to make much sense. He often states that he is having a heart attack, although on physical examination no abnormalities of his pulse, heart sounds, blood pressure, or chest sounds are noted.

On examination today, the detainee appeared calm for the first time since I have seen him. He converses and answers questions today, and states that he is not crazy. Psychiatric evaluation is requested please.

This detainee is an adult male originally detained for a curfew violation. Since his arrest he has been noted to exhibit unusual behavior, consisting of regular efforts to flood his cell with water, and he is stopped from this effort only by the shutting off of water service to his cell. Additionally, he is noted by the guards to hold conversations with imaginary people who he believes are with him in his cell. He has been noted also to prefer collecting small piles of garbage and trash from his meals and to strew these around his cell, also wetting these piles down with water when he has it. Psychiatric evaluation is requested please.

This detainee is an adult male originally arrested on suspicion of simple assault. He exhibited disruptive activity by throwing rocks at guards and was transferred to solitary confinement during approximately the last week in October. At that time he began to refuse to eat or drink. He also began to state that all of the prison personnel were enemies, the interpreters were spies, and that Saddam Hussein would return to kill everyone. Because of a daily state of dehydration caused by no oral water intake, the detainee was treated with nearly daily intravenous fluid administration, ranging from four to six liters of fluid per day to maintain his hydration.

At present, the detainee takes small amounts of food and water on an irregular basis but not enough to ensure adequate health. He remains delusional, and mildly combative despite a weakened condition. He has lost a considerable weight. Psychiatric evaluation requested please.
